Apple® Goes Green

By Doug Smith • VP Programs

The New Recycling Program from Apple®

OK, so I received a free ipod today. And yes it is true that you get what you pay for. I now have a nice and shiny silver paper weight with an Apple logo on the back. But guess what? This little freebie is worth 10% off a new ipod since Apple is now offering a discount when buyers trade in an old ipod when purchasing a new one.

This is the latest part of the "Apple Recycles" program that has recycled over 90% (by weight) of all the electronic equipment collected since 2001. So dig that first generation ipod out of the closet before the next time you head to the Apple store.

For more details go to: http://www.apple.com/environment/recycling/.

Press Release for the Bluelounge's Cableyoyo POP

For more information

please contact

dominic@bluelounge.com or visit www.cableyoyo.com.

Bluelounge blends form with function

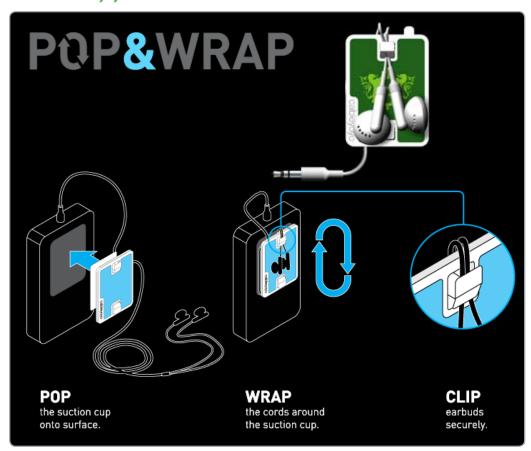

Bluelounge introduces cableyoyo POP, an ingenious tiny product for coiling earbud cords. The most notable aspect of the product lies in the suction cup that attaches to the back of an iPod, cell phone or digital music player. The user then coils the cord around the suction cup and can decorate the product with one of ten decals that ship with the product. The original cableyoyo from Bluelounge has already won several design awards and POP is poised to follow suit.

Bluelounge announces that it is also making cableyoyo and cableyoyo POP available to the corporate promotions market by allowing companies to print their logos and promotional messages on the products and using them as corporate gifts. These innovative products have already attracted companies such as AOL and Star Alliance to place their first orders.

Bluelounge is a multi-disciplinary design studio offering product and graphic design services as well as the manufacturer and distributor of the cableyoyo products.

For more information please contact dominic@bluelounge.com or visit www.cableyoyo.com.

Boss HAAUG Speaks

Monthly Address from the HAAUG President

Welcome to boot camp or "the sky is falling... the sky is falling..."

Last month some clever individuals figured out how to install W W W Win Windows natively on the new Intel Macs. I read the joy in the press that we can now suffer a really X%&@ operating system without having to invest in separate hardware. Very shortly after the hacker solution was announced, Apple released something called Boot Camp as a public beta. Here it is folks Microsoft will not support it, and neither are we. Boot Camp is an easier more elegant (more Apple like) solution to installing Wi Wi Windows on an Intel Mac.

Do not get me wrong the new hardware is fast and when the major applications go native it will be great. Humans, are an inherently creative and curious, it was only a matter of time before someone came up with a method of loading Wi Wi Wi that other operating system and run it natively on a Mac with Intel chips. This could be a very good thing for a Mac user who needs to run software not written for OS X. Right now the two partitions do not talk to one another, but soon you will be able to run that other OS in a window on you Mac OS Desktop, you will be able to open common documents, life will be fulfilling. News flash there is something called Parallel that creates "Virtual Machines" so I believe that you run alternate OS's on the OS X desktop. There will be information in future editions of the barrel covering these topics

The Mac List-serve community, forums, and blog-o-sphere when nuts and the reaction went from everyone doing the happy dance to O.M.G. Apple will quit developing OS X. Let's keep this in perspective, folks The Intel hardware is just getting into people's hands, so the ability to use other OSs is for a small group of people. While I am not going to be installing Wi Wi Win Windows on any new machines soon, it is something to ponder.

Long time HAAUG friend Dreux Ste Marie Apple System Engineer will demonstrate the new Intel Hardware, at the May 20th Meeting, so we all can get a look at the new machines that are shipping. Check www.haaug.org to get details of the meeting and Special Interest Groups.

In other news Apple announced their fiscal 2nd quarter results on April 19th. Apple reported Revenue of $4.36 billion with a net profit of $410 million, or $0.47 per share. That compares with $3.24 billion in revenue and $290 million in profit for the same quarter last year. Apple sold 1,112,000 Macintosh computers and 8,526,000 iPods during the quarter. It looks like our favorite computer company is doing well. You can go the Apple website and listen to the archive of the financial analyst conference call where you can get the detailed financial information.

Last month I wrote about the difference between depending on Internet resources and the support that you get from a user group. A member brought her machine in and asked for help adding memory to the machine. Like I said last month HAAUG is blessed with some very smart people. In less than an hour we had the new memory installed, and the computer booting. Later in the meeting members were helping with an iMovie problem. Not only did the group solve the two members problems but also it was a teaching moment. As the saying goes "Give a person a fish they can eat, teach them to fish and they can feed themselves forever." This is the essence of a user group, members helping members.

If you haven't yet completed the member survey, take a few minutes to fill out the form at the next meeting. As an inducement we will be giving extra raffle tickets to those folks who take the survey. The information will help the board in filling your needs.

Attendees:

Call to Order: 6:35 p.m. by President, Phil Booth.

REPORTS:

Secretary - Lyda McGhee: The March minutes were approved as written.

1st Vice President - Doug Smith: In April, Rick Ligas will show off his CD collection called Essential Spotlight Info. Dreux Ste. Marie will show off new Apple products in May. Doug, Rex, and Jeff will present Microsoft Office 2004 in June and two copies will be given away at the meeting.

2nd Vice President - Mike Miron: The deposit for July's swap meet at the UH Hilton has been paid.

Treasurer - Barbara Long: All bills are paid. There is no report at this meeting but there will be an electronic report later in the week. We got $95 for a printer at auction.

Membership - Jim Connell: At the special board meeting for membership on March 28th, participants shared reasons for staying involved with HAAUG and two reasons stood out: social interaction and SIGs. We need to do a membership survey and get the brochure finished as soon as possible. It was decided to do a paper and pencil survey at the next meeting. If all goes well, we might go with an online survey service. A draft of the survey was passed around. Members who complete the survey at the meeting will get an extra raffle ticket.

Other ideas for increasing membership include affinity programs to get member discounts and prizes for referrals. This might include free advertising for businesses such as MicroCenter and an extra month of membership for a current member who refers a new member.

Regular members	251
Student members	9
Associate members	3
Lifetime members	6

HAAUG Hotline - John Reeves: John Reeves will continue to operate the HAAUG Hotline.

HAAUGNet - Jeff Davis: Everything is working fine and there are no problems. The server software is up-to-date.
